VOICE

When we come march-ing back from man - y fierce at - tacks, We'll sing the hap - py song of Ty - rants shall not a - rise to dark-en the bright skies, To form their ruth - less bands, to Down with his crown so bold who tries to grasp and hold All things that in this world are "Home, Sweet Home," And we'll tell the sto - ries true of our vict - ries gained a - new, For love of ruin all lands; Ev - 'ry man shall be your friend, laws be made to suit all men, When all's been grand and old; He will know his rash mis - take, when his old foun - da - tions shake, For then a free - dom and the Red, White and Blue. Then the ty - rant's crown shall fade a - way, and made safe for de - moc - ra - cy. Then we all will 'par - lez vous,' and we will peace - ful lov - ing world made him quake. Then the world will bet - ter be, and we will there will dawn a bright-er day, when ty-ran-ny has fled and peace has come in-stead, Home will speak I-tal-ian too, and ev-ry-one will like the tune of "Yan-kee Dood-le Doo"; Then good leave it safe and free, and we'll have prin-cip-les so true, with truth and jus-tice too; None shall be a sa-cred place for ev-ry tribe and race, Then ov-er all the earth we'll hear in ev-ry place; will and love shall reign and no one shall be slain, Then joy-ous we shall be that we have lib-er-ty. live for sel-fish gain, or fool-ish pow'r to slain, Then ov-er all the earth will come a grand new birth.

CHORUS

Down with the ty-rant's crown, Down with the ty-rant's crown, Let free-dom reign the whole world 'round; Let ev-ry man's con-science with God be pure and free, And the world be made safe for de-moc-ra-cy. moc-ra-cy.
