RULES AND REGULATIONS

TO BE OBSERVED

IN THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

1. THE library shall be opened every day during the session of Congress, and for one week preceding and subsequent thereto, Sundays excepted, from nine o'clock in the morning to three o'clock in the afternoon, and from five o'clock to seven in the evening.

2. In the recess of Congress, it shall be opened three days in every week, during the hours aforesaid, to wit: on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

3. It shall be the duty of the librarian to label and number the books, place them on the shelves, and preserve due lists and catalogues of the same. He shall also keep due account and register of all issues and returns of books as the same shall be made, together with regular accounts of all expenses incident to the said library, and which are authorised by law.

4. Books, to be issued by the librarian pursuant to law, shall be returned as follows:

A folio within three } weeks;
A quarto within two }

An octavo or duodecimo within one week:

And no member shall receive more than one folio, one quarto, or two octavos or duodecimos, within the terms aforesaid, unless where so connected as to be otherwise useless.

5. For all books issued to any person, except a member of Congress, a receipt or note shall be given, payable to the librarian, and his successors in office, of double the value thereof, as near as can be estimated, conditioned to return the same, undefaced, within the term abovementioned, or to forfeit the amount of such note; at the expiration of which, unless application has been made by another person for the same book, and the librarian requested to make a memorandum thereof, the said librarian, upon the books being produced to him, may renew the issue for the same for the time and on the conditions aforesaid: Provided, That every receipt or note shall contain a further forfeiture or penalty for every day's detention of a book beyond the specified term, that is to say: for

A folio, one dollar per day;
A quarto, fifty cents per day;
An octavo, twenty-five cents per day:

And the same forfeiture or penalty shall be incurred by members of Congress for every illegal detention; which forfeiture or penalty may, for good cause, be remitted by the president of the Senate and speaker of the House of Representatives for the time being, in whole or in part, as the case may require.

6. When a member shall prefer to take a book for the limited time, without removing it from the library, he shall be allowed to do so, and to preserve his priority for the use of such book for the time limited, in like manner as if he had withdrawn the book from the library: And the librarian shall keep due account and entry of all such cases.

7. Books returned shall be delivered to the librarian, to be examined whether damaged or not.

8. If a book be returned damaged, the party returning it shall not be entitled to receive another until the damage for the first shall be satisfied.

9. No book shall be issued within ten days of the termination of any session of Congress.

10. All books shall be returned five days before the close of a session, whether the time allowed for the use thereof be expired or not.

11. During the session of Congress, the secretary of the Senate and clerk of the House of Representatives shall, on their respective responsibility, be entitled to receive, for the use of their respective Houses, that is to say: the secretary of the Senate six sets of the said laws and journals, and the clerk of the House of Representatives eight sets; those for the Senate to be distributed, one set for the president's table, two sets for the secretary's table, and the other three sets for committees of the Senate; those for the House of Representatives, one set for the speaker's table, two sets for the clerk's table, and one set for each of the standing committees of the House: which sets of the laws and journals shall be duly returned to the librarian by the said secretary and clerk, within three days after the close of the session for which they shall be drawn.

12. Whenever any person authorised thereto by law (except the President of the United States and members of Congress) shall receive from the library a set of the said laws and journals, he shall receipt therefor to the librarian, conditioned to return the same undefaced to the library, five days before the close of that session of Congress for which they shall be drawn, under the penalty of double the value of each volume of laws or journals received, that is to say: for each volume of the laws and journals, valued at two dollars and a half per volume, in a penalty of five dollars per volume.

13. One set of the said laws and journals shall be delivered by the librarian to the President of the United States for his own use, and the use of his successors in office, the President filing with the librarian a written acknowledgement of the receipt of the same.

14. It shall be the duty of the librarian to provide, at public expense, a number of suitable boxes, equal to the number of individuals hereby authorised to receive from the library sets of the said laws and journals; each box to be provided with a lock and key, and delivered on application for the use of such persons as may draw, in the manner aforesaid, in which to deposit and safely keep the books so by them respectively received, which boxes shall be returned to the library, together with the books, at the time and in the manner limited by the rules aforesaid.

15. There shall be retained in the library, all charts (the case of maps being specified in the act of January 26, 1802) plans of fortifications, buildings, or other designs in manuscript; volumes of plates or engravings; books accompanying the charts, plates or engravings; tables of chronology; volumes of newspapers; one set of the volumes of any encyclopedia or dictionary of the arts; one set of the volumes of any geographical work, gazeteers, dictionaries of language. Of the above none shall be taken from the library, by any person, without special permission in writing from the president of the Senate and speaker of the House of Representatives, except in cases where the presiding officer of either House may require any of them for the immediate use of the House.

16. The previous approbation of the president of the Senate and speaker of the House of Representatives shall be obtained for the purchase of articles for the use of the library, to be charged upon the contingent fund of the two Houses.

17. It shall be the duty of the librarian, four days before the termination of every session of Congress, to present to any member of Congress, a list of the books which he has received from the library and not returned.

18. The librarian shall, three days before the termination of every session of Congress, furnish the speaker of the House of Representatives and the secretary of the Senate, with a list of the names of such members of Congress as shall not have returned the books received from the library, together with a description and value of such books, and also of the value of the set to which they may belong, and of the amount of fines with which they may stand charged; and it shall be the duty of the speaker in settling the accounts of any such representative, and of the secretary of the Senate in settling the accounts of any such senator, to retain a sum equal to double the value of the books retained, and if they shall form a part of a set, then double the value of the whole set; and also a sum equal to the fines with which such member may stand charged.

19. Whenever any senator or representative shall obtain leave of absence for the remainder of any session of Congress, it shall be the duty of the speaker of the House of Representatives, or of the secretary of the Senate, as the case may be, to ascertain of the librarian whether such Senator or Representative shall have returned the books which he may have received from the library, and have paid the fines which may have been incurred by him; and in case of failure, the same deduction shall be made in the settlement of the accounts of such senator or representative as are directed in the 18th rule.

20. The librarian shall collect all fines and forfeitures accruing upon notes given for books taken from the library.

21. All monies arising from fines and forfeitures shall constitute a part of the library fund, and shall be paid when required to the joint committee of the two Houses of Congress, who are charged with the disposition of that fund.

22. The librarian shall, during the first week of every session, present to the joint committee of the two Houses of Congress, charged with the disposition of the library fund, an accurate statement of all monies received during the preceding year, arising from fines and forfeitures, under the foregoing rules.

Upon considering the subject of rules proper to be observed in the library of Congress, and examining and revising those heretofore adopted, we do order and direct that the foregoing be observed.

WM. H. CRAWFORD,
President of the Senate, pro tempore.

H. CLAY,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

4th December, 1812.

ABSTRACT OF LAWS

CONCERNING

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

AN ACT concerning the Library of Congress.

[Passed January 26, 1802.]

Section 2. And be it further enacted, That the President of the Senate, and Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the time being, be, and they hereby are empowered to establish such regulations and restrictions in relation to the library, as to them shall seem proper, and from time to time, to alter or amend the same: Provided, That no regulation shall be made repugnant to any provision contained in this act.

Section 3. And be it further enacted, That a librarian, to be appointed by the President of the United States solely, shall take charge of the library, who, previous to his entering on the duties of his office, shall give bond, payable to the United States, in such a sum, and with such security as the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the time being, may deem sufficient, for the safe keeping of such books, maps and furniture as may be confided to his care, and the faithful discharge of his trust, according to such regulations as may be, from time to time, established for the government of the said library; which said bond shall be deposited in the office of the Secretary of the Senate.

Section 4. And be it further enacted, That no map shall be permitted to be taken out of the said library by any person; nor any book, except by the President and Vice-President of the United States, and Members of the Senate and House of Representatives, for the time being.

AN ACT for the disposal of certain copies of the Laws of the United States.

[Passed January 2, 1805.]

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That three hundred copies of the laws of the United States, which have been procured by the Secretary of State, in obedience to the law passed for that purpose, and three hundred copies of the journals of Congress, which have been procured in pursuance of the resolution of the second of March, one thousand seven hundred and ninety nine, shall be placed in the library of Congress.

Section 2. And be it further enacted, That the Secretary of the Senate, for the time being, be, and he is hereby authorised to receive three hundred copies of the laws of the United States, out of the thousand copies reserved by law for the disposal of Congress, as soon as the same shall be printed after each session; which he shall cause to be placed in the library, and assorted respectively with the sets of copies mentioned in the first section of this act; excepting only, that at the close of the present session, which will complete the eighth Congress, and in like manner after each particular session in future, which shall complete a Congress, he shall cause the several copies, reserved by him as aforesaid, for all the sessions of each respective Congress, to be bound in one volume, making three hundred volumes for each Congress, as aforesaid; which he shall cause to be placed in the library, assorted with the respective sets of copies mentioned in the first section of this act. And the several copies of the laws and journals of Congress, mentioned in this act, shall not be taken out of library, except by the President and Vice President of the United States, and Members of the Senate and House of Representatives, for the time being. And the expense of binding shall be paid, from time to time, out of the fund appropriated to defray the contingent expenses of both Houses of Congress.

Section 3. And be it further enacted, That the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the time being, be, and they are hereby empowered to establish such regulations and restrictions in relation to the copies of the laws and journals of Congress, directed by this act to be placed in the library, as to them shall seem proper, and from time to time, to alter and amend the same: Provided, That no regulation nor restriction shall be valid, which is repugnant to the provisions contained in this act.

AN ACT.

[Passed May 1, 1810.]

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the time being, be, and they are hereby authorised to grant the use of the books in the library of Congress to the Agent of the joint committee of Congress appointed in relation to the library, on the same terms, conditions and restrictions, as members of Congress are allowed to use said books, any thing contained in any former law to the contrary notwithstanding.

AN ACT making a further appropriation for the support of a Library.

[Passed December 6, 1811.]

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That in addition to the balance of the former appropriation made to purchase books for the use of Congress, there shall be appropriated the sum of one thousand dollars yearly for the term of five years; to be paid out of any monies in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, and expended under the direction of a joint committee, to consist of three members of the Senate, and three members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed every session of Congress, during the continuance of this appropriation.

Concurrent RESOLVE in favour of the Judges of the Supreme Court.

[Passed March 2, 1812.]

RESOLVED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the time being, be, and they are hereby authorised, to grant the use of the books in the library of Congress, to the Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States, at the times and on the terms, conditions and restrictions, as members of Congress are allowed to use the said books.

Conformably to which resolve the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, did grant the privilege to the Judges, by a writing under their hands, and directed to the librarian.
